Manual of Deixis in Romance Languages - Konstanze Jungbluth 2015-10-16

Deixis as a field of research has generated increased interest in recent years. It is crucial for a number of different subdisciplines: pragmatics, semantics, cognitive and contrastive linguistics, to name just a few. The subject is of particular interest to experts and students, philosophers, teachers, philologists, and psychologists interested in the study of their language or in comparing linguistic structures. The different deictic structures - not only the items themselves, but also the oppositions between them - reflect the fact that neither the notions of space, time, person nor our use of them are identical cross-culturally. This diversity is not restricted to the difference between languages, but also appears among related dialects and language varieties. This volume will provide an overview of the field, focusing on Romance languages, but also reaching beyond this perspective. Chapters on diachronic developments (language change), comparisons with other (non-)European languages, and on interfaces with neighboring fields of interest are also included. The editors and authors hope that readers, regardless of their familiarity with Romance languages, will gain new insights into deixis in general, and into the similarities and differences among deictic structures used in the languages of the world.

Entre messe et vêpres ou les matinées de Carême au faubourg Saint-Germain - Marc de Montifaud 1889

Promise at Dawn - Romain Gary 2017-10-31

A classic of modern French literature, the thrilling real-life story of the military hero, ambassador, ladies man, writer, and loving son I grew up longing for the day when I could tear down the veil of darkness and absurdity concealing the true face of the universe and discover at last a smile of kindness and wisdom; I grew up in the certitude that one day I should help my fellow men to wrest the world from our enemies and give back the earth to those who ennoble it with their courage and warm it with their love. Promise at Dawn begins as the story of a mother's sacrifice: alone and poor, she fights fiercely to give her son the very best. Romain Gary chronicles his childhood in Russia, Poland, and on the French Riviera; he recounts his adventurous life as a young man fighting for France in World War II. But above all he tells the story of the love for his mother that was his very life—their secret and private planet, their wonderland “born out of a mother's murmur into a child's ear, a promise whispered at dawn of future triumphs and greatness, of justice and love.”

Uncertain Territories - Inge E. Boer 2006-01-01

Tracing and theorizing the concept of the boundaries through literary works, visual objects and cultural phenomena, this book argues against the reification of boundaries as fixed and empty non-spaces that simply divide the world. Expanding on her previous work on gender and Orientalism, Inge Boer takes us into uncertain territories of fashion and art, tourism and travel, skilfully engaging the ambivalence of boundaries, as both protecting and confining, as bringing distinction while existing by virtue of their ability to be transgressed. In her close readings of that boundaries as desert, as frame, as home (or lack of it), Boer shows that boundaries are spaces within, through, and in the name of which negotiations take place. They are not lines but spaces ; neither fixed nor empty but flexible and inhabited. With the publication of this book, Boer's intellectual legacy stretches beyond her untimely passing. The writings that she left behind can be said to have inaugurated the future of her work, presented in the latter part by several of Boer's intellectual companions. In their original essays, the contributors elaborate on Boer's theme of boundaries as spaces where opposition yields to negotiation. Committed to the artefact as cultural stimulant, as the embodiment of thought, their analyses span a multitude of artefacts and media, ranging from literature to photography, to art installation and presentation, to film and song. Fanning out from Boer's central focus - Orientalism - to other places of contestation, boundaries are shown to mediate the relationship between self and other ; they are, ultimately, spaces of encounter.

Capital Letters - Ève Morisi 2020-03-15

Capital Letters sheds new light on how literature has dealt with society's most violent legal institution, the death penalty. It investigates this question through the works of three major French authors with markedly distinct political convictions and literary styles: Victor Hugo, Charles Baudelaire, and Albert Camus. Working at the intersection of poetics, ethics, and law, Ève Morisi uncovers an unexpected transhistorical dialogue on both the modern death penalty and the ends and means of literature after the French Revolution. Through close textual analysis, careful contextualization, and the critique of violence forged by Giorgio Agamben, Michel Foucault, and René Girard, Morisi reveals that, despite their differences, Hugo, Baudelaire, and Camus converged in questioning France's humanitarian redefinition of capital punishment dating from the late eighteenth century. Conversely, capital justice led all three writers to interrogate the functions, tools, and limits of their art. Capital Letters shows that the key modern debate on the political and moral responsibility, or autonomy, of literature crystallizes around the death penalty in works whose form disturbs the commonly accepted divide between aestheticism and engagement.

Ten Studies in Dependency Syntax - Igor Mel'cuk 2021-05-24

The monograph presents the Meaning-Text approach applied to the domain of syntax from a typological angle; it deals with several long-standing syntactic problems on the basis of a dependency description. Its content can be presented in five parts + an Introduction: The Introduction explains the architecture of the book and sketches the Meaning-Text linguistic model, underlying the subsequent discussion. I. Surface-syntactic relations in the languages of the world, with special studies of subjects and objects. II. Grammatical voice in the dependency framework: the "passive" construction in Chinese. III. The relative clause: a calculus and analysis of possible types; the pseudo-relative ("headless") clause. IV. Binary conjunctions (such as IF ..., THEN ...), free indefinite pronouns ([He went] nobody knows where), and syntactic idioms. V. Word order: linearization of dependency structures. The monograph offers a new perspective in syntactic studies. It is strongly typology-oriented (using the data from typologically diverse languages: English, Russian, Chinese, Korean, Basque, Georgian, etc.) and based on a system of rigorous definitions of the notions involved, which ensures a link with computational linguistics and Natural Language Processing

Les baleines préfèrent le chocolat - Marie Colot 2015-12-14

Péripéties, humours et émotions Burger, c'est la nouvelle de la classe et elle porte ce surnom à cause de ses kilos en trop. À coups de bonbons et de bonne humeur, elle se fait pourtant une chouette bande de copains. Ils partagent son goût débordant de la vie et se mobilisent sans hésiter, et avec une bonne dose d'inventivité, lorsque sa vie est en danger. Une histoire touchante et haute en couleurs qui célèbre le pouvoir de l'amitié, au-delà des apparences, et qui nous révèle que, tant qu'il y a de la vie, il y a peut-être de l'espoir. Une leçon d'optimisme ! EXTRAIT Je flottais au milieu du bassin quand on m'a trouvée. Il paraît que j'ai eu de la chance. C'est sûr. Un autre mercredi, Marilyn Monroe en a eu moins que moi quand on l'a découverte inanimée sur son lit. Elle savait y faire, mon idole. C'est classe de finir soudain ses jours dans des draps en satin rose. Ceux de l'hôpital où on m'a transférée sont en coton usé. Et mes fesses toucheront bientôt le sommier. Je ne sais pas ce qui m'est arrivé. Je ne me souviens que d'une ombre et d'un claquement de porte. A PROPOS DE L'AUTEUR Née en 1981 en région namuroise, Marie Colot passe son enfance à inventer des histoires, fabriquer des livres et jouer à l'école avec ses poupées. Lorsqu'elle est devenue soi-disant grande, rien n'a vraiment changé pour elle : en 2012, elle publie son premier roman, En toutes lettres (sélectionné pour six prix des lecteurs jeunesse) puis Souvenirs de ma nouvelle vie (Prix Libbylit du roman jeunesse belge et Petite Fureur 2014), À l'encre rouge et Les dimanches où il fait beau. Pour être certaine de ne pas s'ennuyer, elle enseigne le français à la Haute École de Bruxelles et anime des ateliers de lecture et d'écriture pour les enfants. À ses heures pas si perdues que ça, elle observe les passants, pense à tout et à rien, collectionne les éléphants, fais la sieste et mange de la crème brûlée. Marie Colot est l'auteur de Souvenirs de ma nouvelle vie (Prix Libbylit du roman jeunesse belge), En toutes lettres et À l'encre rouge dans la même collection.

Life On The Refrigerator Door - Alice Kuipers 2012-05-15

Life on the Refrigerator Door is a poignant and deeply moving first novel about the bonds of love and frustration that tie mothers and daughters together. Told entirely in a series of notes left on the kitchen fridge—some casual, some intimate, some funny, some angry—it is the story of nine months in the life of 15-year-old Claire and her single mother. Preoccupied with their busy separate lives, rarely in the same room at the same time, they talk to each other in a series of short snippets that reflect the daily drama of school, boyfriends, work and chores that make up their days. Yet the mundane soon becomes extraordinary when a crisis overtakes their lives—a momentous change that will redefine their relationship and unfold in their exchanges on the refrigerator door. Short, powerful and unforgettable, Kuipers' novel looks deep into the complex relationship between mothers and daughters, and the distances that can open up between people who live together but exist in their own worlds. Unfolding in a wonderfully simple and intimate narrative, Life on the Refrigerator Door will appeal to readers across the generations, delivering universal lessons about love.

Mêlant éléments réellement vécus et ingrédients de pure fiction, ce roman original s'inspire de l'adolescence du champion de natation Yannick Agnel. Inspirée et inspirante, l'histoire de Yann s'adresse à tous les lecteurs. Sur la terre ferme, Yann ne sait pas bien quoi faire de son corps. Mais heureusement, il y a l'eau. Plonger plus loin, nager devant, arrêter le chrono en premier : c'est sa vie. «Big Feet», comme le surnomment ses proches, n'a pas peur de vivre loin des siens : il débarque à Nice, et se sent vite comme un poisson dans l'eau au sein du centre aquatique de Nice. La mélancolie ? Très peu pour lui ! Ce qui compte, c'est nager contre chaque dixième de seconde. Battre tous les records. Ne jamais s'arrêter. Mais la vie vous réserve parfois de drôles de plongeurs...

Autoportrait - Edouard Levé 2012-03-15

In this brilliant and sobering self-portrait, Edouard Levé hides nothing from his readers, setting out his entire life, more or less at random, in a string of declarative sentences. Autoportrait is a physical, psychological, sexual, political, and philosophical triumph. Beyond "sincerity," Levé works toward an objectivity so radical it could pass for crudeness, triviality, even banality: the author has stripped himself bare. With the force of a set of maxims or morals, Levé's prose seems at first to be an autobiography without sentiment, as though written by a machine—until, through the accumulation of detail, and the author's dry, quizzical tone, we find ourselves disarmed, enthralled, and enraptured by nothing less than the perfect fiction . . . made entirely of facts.
