Temps, instant et durée (Le)

- Pierre Buser 2011-04-14

Longtemps, scientifiques et philosophes ont parlé à l'unisson d'un seul et même temps. Le temps de l'homme était intégré dans le temps de la nature. La science moderne a considérablement modifié cette perspective. Elle évoque désormais un divorce possible du temps de la physique et du temps de la psychologie. Quelque chose a été rompu. Pierre Buser et Claude Debru reviennent, dans ce livre magistral, sur l'évolution de notre conception du temps, à travers les époques, mais aussi les disciplines. Alors que la physique d'aujourd'hui discute beaucoup de la réversibilité du temps, la psychologie et les neurosciences se tournent volontiers vers deux autres facettes : l'instant présent et la perception du futur immédiat, ce « sens du futur » qui peut être cerné avec une rigueur scientifique. Il n'est donc désormais plus question d'un temps unique. En créant son propre temps, l'homme a fini par en comprendre la singularité par rapport à un temps physique lui-même démultiplié et diversifié. Une réconciliation entre ces différents temps, de plus en plus antagonistes, est-elle encore à ce jour envisageable ? Pierre Buser est professeur émérite de neuro-science à l'université Pierre-et-Marie-Curie à Paris. Il est notamment l'auteur de Cerveau de soi, Cerveau de l'autre et de L'Inconscient aux mille visages. Claude Debru est professeur de philosophie des sciences à l'École normale supérieure.

Tous deux appartiennent à l'Académie des sciences. It's All About Video - Ulla Autenrieth 2022-07-07 Bewegte Bilder in Form von kurzen Videos sind inzwischen wesentlicher Teil unserer Alltagskommunikation. Über Plattformgrenzen hinaus und quer durch die verschiedenen gesellschaftlichen Teilbereiche erfahren diese gegenwärtig einen deutlichen Bedeutungszuwachs. Sagte sprichwörtlich bereits ein Bild mehr als tausend Worte, so stellt sich drängend die Frage, wie es sich daran anknüpfend mit der Aussagekraft von Videos als einer Ansammlung und Sequenz unzähliger Bilder verhält. Das vermehrte Auftreten und die Ausdifferenzierung von Bewegtbildinhalten stellt die Visuelle Kommunikationsforschung vor neue Herausforderungen und Fragestellungen. Diese werden im Rahmen von It's All About Video. Visuelle Kommunikation im Bann bewegter Bilder sowohl aus theoretisch-konzeptioneller als auch aus empirisch-praktischer Perspektive erörtert. Der Sammelband richtet sich vor allem an ForscherInnen, Studierende und Lehrende in Visueller Kommunikationsforschung, Kommunikations- und Medienwissenschaft, Soziologie, (Visual) Cultural Studies, Kulturwissenschaften und Online-Forschung.

Rezeption und Tradierung als komplexes Netzwerk - Maximilian Schich 2009
Das vorliegende Buch behandelt Phänomene des Nachlebens antiker Monumente in visuellen Darstellungen. Rezeption bezeichnet dabei den Bezug zum gezeigten Gegenstand, Tradierung das Verhältnis der Darstellungen untereinander. Anhand der Analyse zweier Datenmengen - dem Census of Antique Works of Art and Architecture Known in the Renaissance und einer Sammlung von visuellen Dokumenten zu den Thermen in Rom - wird gezeigt, dass die Prozesse von Rezeption und Tradierung als komplexe Netzwerke im Sinne der diskreten Mathematik verstanden werden können. Methodisch schlägt die vorliegende Arbeit eine Brücke zwischen Kunstgeschichte, Archäologie und Netzwerkforschung. Dadurch wird eine nahtlose Verbindung von Einzeluntersuchung und Überblick, von qualitativer wie quantitativer Analyse erreicht. Einzelne Dokumente, wissenschaftliche Publikationen und ganze Datenbanken werden dabei gleichberechtigt quellenkritisch behandelt. Fundiert wird der vorgeschlagene Ansatz, jenseits der praktischen Anwendung, durch die Erläuterung relevanter Konzepte aus der Kognitionswissenschaft wie der Netzwerkforschung. Die inhaltlichen Ergebnisse sind sowohl für die Kunstgeschichte wie auch die Archäologie, insbesondere das Thema der Antikenrezeption sowie für die Thermenforschung von Bedeutung. Darüber hinaus dient der vorgestellte methodische Ansatz als Ausgangspunkt für weitere Forschungen zu komplexen Netzwerken in den Kunstwissenschaften.

Theories of Vision from Al-kindi to Kepler - David C.

Lindberg 1976

Kepler's successful solution to the problem of vision early in the seventeenth century was a theoretical triumph as significant as many of the more celebrated developments of the scientific revolution. Yet the full import of Kepler's arguments can be grasped only when they are viewed against the background of ancient, medieval, and Renaissance visual theory. David C.

Lindberg provides this background, and in doing so he fills the gap in historical scholarship and constructs a model for tracing the development of scientific ideas. David C. Lindberg is professor and chairman of the department of the history of science at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Transcultural History -

Madeleine Herren 2012-06-19

For the 21st century, the often-quoted citation 'past is prologue' reads the other way around: The global present lacks a historical narrative for the global past. Focussing on a transcultural history, this book questions the territoriality of historical concepts and offers a narrative, which aims to overcome cultural essentialism by focussing on crossing borders of all kinds.

Transcultural History reflects critically on the way history is constructed, asking who formed history in the past and who succeeded in shaping what we call the master narrative. Although trained European historians, the authors aim to present a useful approach to global history, showing first of all how a Eurocentric but universal historiography removed or essentialised certain topics in Asian history. As an empirical discipline, history is based on source material, analysed according to rules resulting from a strong methodological background. This book accesses the global past after World War I, looking at the well known stage of the Paris Peace Conferences, observing the multiplication of new borders and the variety of transgressing institutions, concepts, actors, men and women inventing themselves as global subjects, but sharing a bitter experience with almost all local societies at this time, namely the awareness of having relatives buried in far distant places due to globalised wars.

Goals and Process-Related Quality Criteria for Science Teaching

- "Haus der kleinen Forscher" Foundation
2017-11-13

Scientific contributions authored by distinguished experts from the field of early education are published periodically within the framework of the series Scientific Studies on the Work of the "Haus der kleinen Forscher" Foundation. This publication series serves to foster informed dialogue between the Foundation, scientists, and practitioners with the aim of giving all early childhood education and care centres, after-school centres, and primary schools in Germany scientifically sound support in fulfilling their early education mandate. This fifth volume in the series focuses on goals of science education at the level of the children, the early childhood professionals, and the pedagogical staff at after-school centres and primary schools, and on process-related quality criteria for science teaching at pre-primary and primary level. In their expert reports, Yvonne Anders, Ilonca Hardy, Sabina Pauen, Beate Sodian, and Mirjam Steffensky specify pedagogical content dimensions of the goals of early science education at pre-primary and primary school age. In addition to theoretically underpinning these goals, the authors present instruments for their assessment. In his expert report, Jörg Ramseger formulates ten quality criteria for science teaching. Early childhood professionals and pedagogical staff at after-school centres and primary schools can draw on these process-related criteria when planning lessons and conducting self-evaluations of science learning opportunities at pre-primary and primary level. The concluding chapter of the volume describes the implementation of these expert recommendations in the substantive offerings of, and the accompanying research on, the "Haus der kleinen Forscher" Foundation.

Foundations of Sensory

Science - H. Autrum

2012-12-06

When seen from an outsider's vantage point, the development of knowledge in the sensory sciences must appear massive and the result of some carefully followed master plan. In reality, it is the result of numerous relatively independent human endeavors shaped by application of the scientific method. The comprehensive construction of quantitative theories of sense organ function has occurred only recently -but at an explosive rate prefaced by centuries of expansion in the physical sciences. Predicated on this growth, the twentieth century may become known as the age of the biological sciences. With the exception of a modest number of intellectual giants, there were few contributors to the foundations of the sensory sciences before the dawn of this century. At least 90% of existing knowledge has been produced by scientists working in laboratories founded since 1920. If any single scientist and his laboratory may be identified with the growth in the sensory sciences, it is EDGAR DOUGLAS ADRIAN, First Baron of Cambridge and leader of the Physiological Laboratory at Cambridge University, England. Lord ADRIAN'S influence upon the sensory sciences was great, not only in terms of his contribution to knowledge itself but also through the influence which he exerted upon numerous young scientists who spent weeks or years at the Cambridge laboratory and who later returned to their homelands and colleagues with the seeds of vigorous research and quantitative inquiry firmly implanted.

Diagramming Devotion - Jeffrey F. Hamburger 2020-08-26
During the European Middle Ages, diagrams provided a critical tool of analysis in cosmological and theological debates. In addition to drawing relationships among diverse areas of human knowledge and experience, diagrams themselves generated such knowledge in the first place. In Diagramming Devotion, Jeffrey F. Hamburger examines two monumental works that are diagrammatic to their core: a famous set of picture poems of unrivaled complexity by the Carolingian monk Hrabanus Maurus, devoted to the praise of the cross, and a virtually unknown commentary on Hrabanus's work composed almost five hundred years later by the Dominican friar Berthold of Nuremberg. Berthold's profusely illustrated elaboration of Hrabanus translated his predecessor's poems into a series of almost one hundred diagrams. By examining Berthold of Nuremberg's transformation of a Carolingian classic, Hamburger brings modern and medieval visual culture into dialogue, traces important changes in medieval visual culture, and introduces new ways of thinking about diagrams as an enduring visual and conceptual model.

Paradigms in Cartography -

Pablo Iván Azócar Fernández

2013-08-04

In this book the main trends, concepts and directions in cartography and mapping in modernism and postmodernism are reviewed.

Philosophical and epistemological issues are analysed in cartography from positivist-empiricist, neo-positivist and post-structuralist stances. In general, in cartography technological aspects have been considered as well as theoretical issues. The aim is to highlight the epistemological and philosophical viewpoint during the development of the discipline. Some main philosophers who have been influential for contemporary thinking such as Immanuel Kant, Ludwig Wittgenstein, Karl Popper and Bertrand Russell, are considered. None of these philosophers wrote about cartography directly (excepting Kant), but their philosophies are related to cartography and mapping issues. The book also analyses the concept of paradigm or paradigm shift coined by Thomas Kuhn, who applied it to the history of science. Different cartographic trends that have arisen since the second half of the twentieth century are analysed according to this important concept which is implicit inside the scientific or disciplinary communities. Further, the authors analyse the position of cartography in the context of the sciences and other disciplines, adopting a positivistic point of view. Additionally, they review current trends in cartography and mapping in the context of information and communication technologies in a post-modernistic or post-structuralistic framework. Thus, since the 1980s and 1990s, new mapping concepts have arisen which challenge the discipline's traditional map conceptions.

Imaginationen des Islam -

Alberto Saviello 2015-03-30
Bildliche Darstellungen des Propheten Mohammed gab es in Europa schon lange vor dem sogenannten "Karikaturenstreit". Bereits im frühen Buchdruck erscheint Mohammed als Personifikation der abendländischen Vorstellungen vom Islam und zugleich als eine faszinierende, schillernde Figur von gesellschaftlicher Relevanz. Anhand von Druckgraphiken in Koranübersetzungen und Biographien des Propheten aus fünf Jahrhunderten beschreibt die Studie die Konstanten und Wandlungen der Mohammedbilder in ihrem jeweiligen historischen Kontext. Damit leistet das Buch einen bildwissenschaftlichen Beitrag zur Erörterung von Alteritätskonstruktionen, zur Frage von Religionsdarstellungen in der bildenden Kunst und zur Geschichte des Islambildes in Westeuropa.

The Handbook of Comparative Communication Research -

Frank Esser 2013-06-19

The Handbook of Comparative Communication Research aims to provide a comprehensive understanding of comparative communication research. It fills an obvious gap in the literature and offers an extensive and interdisciplinary discussion of the general approach of comparative research, its prospect and problems as well as its applications in crucial sub-fields of communications. The first part of the volume charts the state of the art in the field; the second section introduces relevant areas of communication studies where the comparative approach has been successfully applied in recent years; the third part offers an analytical review of conceptual and methodological issues; and the last section proposes a roadmap for future research.
