LOST IN A WORLD OF WATER A year has passed since the Labyrinth was killed, but it seems Sieg still hasn't been able to take that next step in his relationship with Mariela. Far from it, he ends up upsetting her, and she runs away from home with the Black Iron Freight Corps! While traveling through the Fell Forest, Mariela's group encounters a mysterious shrine in a gloomy bog. After passing through the structure's doorway, Mariela awakens in a tower that appears to be underwater. She and her comrades will have to unravel the mystery of this place if they hope to get home. Could this fantastical realm have something to do with Mariela's missing master?

Murder on Main Street - Hunter Laroche 2022-06-23

Wendy Dow and Nancy Eblen, two very financially comfortable business women, head off their annual summer vacation which they have scheduled together for years. They find themselves on the Island of Nantucket in early May. After a wonderful lunch in the garden of The Chanticleer Inn, they start discussing how nice it would be just to give it all up and spend the entire summer on the island. Well, this adventure moves forward, and they find themselves the owners of a five acre parcel of land in Polpis. The property has two run down barns and a home that has been neglected for quite a number of years. When they start their restoration projects, they uncover a long old slender metal box that is locked. Now, the contents of this mysterious box could it possibly hold the clue to a murder? Ahh, the plot thickens...

With the First Dream of Fire They Hunt the Cold - Trevor Joyce 2003-01-01

Poetry. Trevor Joyce is one of those Irish poets, in the line of James Clarence Mangan, Brian Coffey, and Samuel Beckett, whose work explores new fields and modes rather than dwelling in the familiar. "He is a writer of great integrity and originality, his writing is both exciting and assured and his way of looking at the world is not arcane" - J.C.C. Mays, The Recorder. "His characteristic strengths are astonishing graces of language: he can fuse intricate argument with plain and lovely images and make all moving" - Eavan Boland, Irish Times.

A Bridge of Dreams - Sara Ann Levinsky 1984

Paramananda, a disciple of Vivekananda in the Ramakrishna lineage, came to the United States in 1906. A Bridge of Dreams tells the story of his life and community.

Ascending Jacob's Ladder : Book II in the Jacob's Ladder Series - Mark James Foster 2021-04-09

Ascending Jacob's Ladder Book II in Ascending Jacob's Ladder Series This is to me one of the enjoyable books out of the three that I have been able to pen, I feel like I have so much life left in me during much of this book. I find also it tells me little things pertaining to the great advent that will take place within Utah Valley. In one of the first dreams, I also become aware of how the advisory gets into the heart of men and takes them down to the depths of the lake, to consume at his will. As I go through this work, I find that there are events that are going to take place that I later , by pure happenchance find the answer to while reading my scripture events that I have read several times but for some reason I was unable to see those events with the clarity that I know see them taking place. You will also see that there is a dream that is called, "The Parable of being schooled" I nearly named this entire series after that vary chapter because it taught to me that throughout all of the parables that are being written. It is "The Parable of being Schooled" that most explained to me what was going on throughout this dreaming and interpreting process. Then once again I decided to place into this work one of the same parables that I used in the first book of this series because I was directly told to pause for a time, that is what I did. I didn't begin again until I was once again told to move forward why this was, I have no Idea, but like I have stated, "I am only the pen in this project, nothing more." Regardless I am happy to do so. There are so many events that take place in these parables that astound me such as that of, "The Parable of The Baptism of Fire." This took place just before we had Covid-19 hit us, I found that this event was why I ended up moving into Spokane for only a year. Halfway through that year was when Covid-19 hit us and all the pleasurable moments of having family over had to stop. I have also found that the Lord was stretching me through these dreams and vision, they from before the first book started out with just ten or so symbols. As time progressed, they had evolved into fifty and then into a hundred and fifty symbols that showed up during each dream. I should probably save this tid-bit for the third book, but I was given one dream out of that book that carried over three-hundred-eighty symbols, that dream took me well over two weeks to interpret. As a little secret to let you know that in order for me to understand dreams in the manner, they are to be understood that I have to go through a seven-step process through which each dream is interpreted at which point I have to decide between three different forums of how to present each dream, this is done by the spirit. I would often have a dream and assume I understood it but until I put it through this process, I truly had no idea of how the Lord made sense of the way I received the dream, then to finally see how each dream evolved. There is no way I could have put together these dreams and vision and had them present the understanding that exists without him being in control of this process. I know if you are paying attention to the Spirit that you will find alternate meanings to each one of these parables when you review them. I pray that you may gain more knowledge, inspiration and wisdom as you read and travel through all of these discoveries as I have.

Existential Counselling & Psychotherapy in Practice - Emmy Van Deurzen 2002

Offering a concrete framework and practical methods for working from an existential perspective, this book has as its core the belief that many of our problems arise from the essential paradoxes of human existence, rather than personal pathology.

The Imaginer of Memos - Leo Farr 2011-06

The Imaginer of Memos is an example of what I call ficlution: fic, the first three letters of fiction, and lution, the last two syllables of solution to form the word ficlution: A type of writing that presents a fictitious story that is meant to entertain and stimulate; but also, to present a real human problem, combining emotions with facts, and offering a possible solution to that problem. Here is the story of a man, who struggles to overcome many handicaps, as a child and as an adult—as all humans in their own lives must do. Along the way he experiences love and triumph, pain and suffering, loneliness and friendship. Finally, he becomes aware of and he accepts a life long mission of faith: Memos. That mission is to fill in the details of the concept of Memos to form a new social unit through which mankind may ultimately find the meaning of life and the universe. Leo Farr is happily married and has five children and five grandchildren. He is presently retired from the State of California and living in Sacramento, California. Over the years, as a counselor and supervisor in the Department of Rehabilitation, as a coach for youth sports, and as an author he has shown a deep interest in the development of children and the personality of adults. He has written three other books: Stacey and her Lessons in Learning; Children, Dogs, and other Wild Things; and Ficlution of Coaching, Eating, and Mankind. The First Algernon Blackwood MEGAPACK® - Algernon Blackwood 2022-04-14

The Road - Cormac McCarthy 2007-03-20

NATIONAL BESTSELLER • WINNER OF THE PULITZER PRIZE • A searing, post-apocalyptic novel about a father and son's fight to survive, this "tale of survival and the miracle of goodness only adds to McCarthy's stature as a living master. It's gripping, frightening and, ultimately, beautiful" (San Francisco Chronicle). A father and his son walk alone through burned America. Nothing moves in the ravaged landscape save the ash on the wind. It is cold enough to crack stones, and when the snow falls it is gray. The sky is dark. Their destination is the coast, although they don't know what, if anything, awaits them there. They have nothing; just a pistol to defend themselves against the lawless bands that stalk the road, the clothes they are wearing, a cart of scavenged food—and each other. The Road is the profoundly moving story of a journey. It boldly imagines a future in which no hope remains, but in which the father and his son, "each the other's world entire," are sustained by love. Awesome in the totality of its vision, it is an unflinching meditation on the worst and the best that we are capable of: ultimate destructiveness, desperate tenacity, and the tenderness that keeps two people alive in the face of total devastation. Look for Cormac McCarthy's new novel, The Passenger.

A Dream of Redemption - Bronwen Evans 2018-02-20

A forbidden love and a chilling mystery tease the senses in this sensuous historical romance from the USA Today bestselling author of A Kiss of Lies and A Love to Remember. Bookish and independent Lady Helen Hawkestone is expected to marry well. But, having grown up with warring parents, the institution holds little appeal. The trick, she realizes, is to marry for love—a task that's easier said than done. Only while Helen is raising funds for her do-gooder sister's orphanage does she meet a man who arouses her curiosity. Lowborn and yet so dignified that Helen can't help but try to elicit a response, Clary Homeward is an enigma—a heart-stopping, body-stirring, forget-her-social-upbringing enigma. A single offense against a noblewoman such as Lady Helen would ruin a man like Clary. Her sister, Marisa, rescued him from hellish poverty and employs him with her charity work. Try as he might to push her away, Helen tempts him to want things he could never have. But when girls from the orphanage start disappearing, destined for a grim fate Clary knows all too well, Helen insists on helping. And soon Clary wonders whether something more were not just possible but inevitable—even right. Praise for A Dream of Redemption "I have seldom seen this type of story done with such care and intelligence. The Violated - Vance Bourjaily 2015-04-28

"One of the very few good, ambitious and important novels to have been done by the writers of my generation." —Norman Mailer The lives of four Americans born between the world wars are intertwined to devastating effect in this gripping novel from one of the twentieth century's most acclaimed authors. Beautiful, sad Ellen Beniger; her younger brother, Tom, a scholar unhappily moonlighting as a TV writer; the athletic amorist Guy Cinturon; and tough little Eddie Bissle, ex-infantryman and Ellen's secret lover, struggle to come to grips with the limits of their futures and the scars of their pasts as they enter middle age. Will the physical, emotional, and spiritual violations they have endured remain with them forever, or can they be healed? As The Violated builds to its stunning climax, the story of four lost souls reveals heartbreaking truths about the dark side of post-World War II America.
